ZACATE PANTS

Extremely light waterproof pants made of 2.5-layer Gelanots material with the parameters of 25000/60000, taking up very little space in the backpack. Designed primarily for use in conditions of sudden deterioration of weather as trousers worn over trekking pants. Equipped with zippers at the bottom of the legs, thanks to which it is much easier to put them on without taking off your shoes. Intentionally the pants have no pockets, yet the waterproof zippers are allowing access to the pockets of the pants worn underneath. Their cut is a bit more spacious, minimizing any possible restrictions in movement.

ITCHU / ITCHU LADY

Hybrid fleece jacket designed and produced from a thoughtful combination of materials. The body is made of Polartec® Thermal Pro® material, which provides warmth in the cold-sensitive parts. The sleeves and the collar are made of the elastic Nanoqpile Stretch fleece fabric, which ensures great fit and freedom of movement, and helps to maintain an increased thermal comfort. The chest is additionally protected against the wind with a layer of thin, windproof nylon, so that during intense activities in dry conditions there is no need to use an additional windproof jacket.
